Some Boundary Shuffling.

While the scheme broke down to make a wholesale gerrymander of the Provincial constituency boundaries, it was a good exemplification of that time-disinclined political practice. A bill brought in by the Government provides for the alteration of some of the political boundaries; apparently to the presumed advantage of the Government in each case.

The constituency of Medicine Hat is to be changed in such a way as to replace a two-member riding by two one member ridings. There may be local conditions which warrant the change, but in the light of the other boundary shifting provided for, it is a safe surmise that the manoeuvre is not altogether disengaged from the intention of the present process of electing a Government supporter in one riding or both.

The rural part of the Calgary riding is to be separated from the city. The obvious purpose is to make the running smoother for Hon. Alex Ross and his Labor associates or associates, and harder for Opposition candidates.

In Edmonton exactly the contrary course is taken. Boundary changes are hitting off the city. A considerable U. F. A. vote and Labor vote is thus brought into this riding, for reasons which need not be specified.

There is one provision of the bill to which little or no exception will be taken. It will not hereafter be necessary for a member of the Legislature to be a resident of the constituency he represents in the Government. The importance of such by-elections has been exaggerated, and no harm is likely to follow the abandonment of the practice.

One inference may be that the Premier expects to do nothing but cabinet reconstruction if he survives the election.

There is nothing in the bill to abolish or alter the clause inserted a couple of years ago which demands that every constituency shall be represented when a session of the Legislature is called. That proviso is apparently to be left as it is, on the understanding that the Ministers will obey it or not as they see fit.

The Assassination Committee.

The redistribution committee failed to agree among themselves as to what constituencies should be disbanded or wiped off the political map and where the boundaries of the Legislature should be shifted to help legitimate themselves of public life. The committee therefore threw up its hands, said it was through, and asked to be discharged.

This ends the much-advertised plan to put through a redistribution bill which would cut down the membership of the Legislature and save money. The original plan was to have a reduction of the sessional indemnities. The next Legislature is to consist of the same number of members as the present one, and they are to draw indemnities at the same rate. That is that.

Reduction by redistribution did not perish at a blow. It was killed by a process of attrition. The original plan was to have a reduction in the membership in the House. That in the course of procedure, ceased to be the objective. The plan then became one to gerrymander the province in order to secure the return of the Brownlie Government, leaving the leadership as at present.

To the Liberal members of the committee refused to agree. They then had to submit a minority report. That put the plan out of alignment. A gerrymander is likely to be a boomerang at the polls if it is identified to be such. If the Liberal committee men "spilled the beans" by a minor slip, the Government's chances of a return would be discounted, not helped, by revealing the constituents.

At that, the plan might have been recommended by the Government majority in the committee, and railroaded through the Legislature, if it had been a gerrymander intent only to prevent the electing of Liberals and Conservative members. But the third reason for the failure of the redistribution committee also to get rid of at least one member of the cabinet. Somebody evidently felt that there were some members on that side of the House who could be better got along without.

The plan of redistribution proposed would have made the seat of Hon. George Headley about as safe as anything else in the province. It was specially designed to leave the present member for Cochrane out of the next Legislature. As the constituency of Stoney Plain was to be abolished, the present member for that riding was marked to disappear from the legislative halls. There were no other Government members whom it was evidently felt to be particularly desirable to retire.

Whoever engineered the plot miscalculated the willingness of these and other Government supporters to be assassinated. When the design got into the U. F. A. members promptly went into action. They did their work Saturday and Sunday and Monday. Their main idea apparently could not bring the appointed victims to see the propriety of helping to exterminate themselves. The committee was told to report no progress and abolish itself. The Government majority in the committee having converted itself into a Black Hand society, it was "not guilty" in victims. There was nothing else to be done.

Corrupted freemen are the worst of slaves.—Garrison.

THE DREAM GOAT

When I'm in my bed at night
I can drive without slide or hook.
And the goat with the little horn
And there's never a green so far
That I cannot dream it in part.

A goat with a little horn in my belt
Semi-polluted and mostly steep,
There is never a pit I dread
And the goat with the little horn
Or a pond or a clump of trees.

It's out in the course I find
The goat with the little horn long,
I have no such peace of mind,
For the goat with the little horn
And the goat with the little horn in three
Will a horrible seven be.

Oh, Hagen, and Jones and Ross,
Are the expert crew,
Though a goat with the little horn
I can beat you and often do,
The goat with the little horn
Again and again in my bed.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

How Can a Pretty Schoolteacher Attract Men?

The Tired Mother Whose Neighbors Park Their Children With Her — The Danger of an Intimate Friend Boarding With a Young Couple

Dear Dorothy Dix: — I have taught school for eight long years. Now I am so tired that I should like to marry and have a home of my own, but men are attracted to me. This is incomprehensible to me; as I am very good-looking and have a good figure. It is true that men prefer to lower mentally over women on whom they lavish their affection? Or perhaps it is too much to say that men make me shudder. — LONESOME NANNY.

Answer: — I get thousands of letters from girls who are in trouble and among them seem to be in getting parties, no beauty. They are a unit in themselves. You will find that you expect to be paid for whatever courtesy or service you render. The girl who sacrifices her modesty for the sake of finding a home makes a sorry bargain.

So perhaps you are right in attributing your lack of popularity to the fact that such a woman is not attractive. Try some lonesome instead of replying at H. For, believe me, there are many men who can pay too high price for the girl who sacrifices her modesty for the sake of finding a home makes a sorry bargain.

Don't sacrifice your ideals for a joyride, and be sure of this: If among all the men you meet, there is not one who has refused to take a girl who has kept herself spotless, who has refused to let her have a home, even Tom Dick and Harry at H., then you are lucky to be here. Better go to the man who has no respect for womanhood and no reverence for God.

As for your suggestion that the reason you are not popular is because you are too intelligent, that depends on how highbrowed you are. If you are a real conversationalist with every young man you meet by asking him his opinion on the fine points of politics, religion, etc., you will be a modern realist with your jazz partners, I don't wonder that they see you.

The fear of a blue stocking is as much an hereditary fear with us as it is with any other race. It is not only the mother who knows, but even highly cultivated and intellectual men are afraid of colored ladies. Furthermore, it is a curious fact in natural history that the most cultured and refined of the wives have brazen women who never have an idea above the body.

Also, it is true that the rank and file of American men go to work busily with work and play that few of them ever read anything beyond the sports columns.

This narrows their conversational range down to small talk about radios, cars, and the like, which is all that they care to hear except the gossip of their little circle. Therefore, if a girl attempts to talk to them about books or art they are awkward and ill at ease and bored to tears.

But not all knowledge comes put in books, and many of those who are not highly educated have more real wisdom than half a dozen college professors.

Some men like intelligent women but they don't want a woman to thrust her education upon them and show them how much more she knows. They don't want a woman to be too talkative, too small, and perhaps that is what you have been doing.

A clever woman, Nanny, is one who is smart enough never to let a man know just what she knows.

Dear Miss Dix: — I am a widow with several small children of my own and have a daughter who, whenever she wants something quiet at her house or wants to go shopping or to the matines, sends her children over to stay at my house. What shall I do?

A THIRST MOTHER: — Bundle them right back and tell their mother that you can't care for them. Or better still, write her a little note and tell her that you have decided to give up your house and take care of children for 50 cents apiece as afternoons.

Then you can go to work, having your children nursed and cared for until you prove to it herself.

In every neighborhood there is always the neighborhood goat. Some good, unctuous soul whom all the grantees work to a fare-thee-well, and who, in turn, gives the neighborhood a good name. But I have one.

I love my husband dearly, but he isn't companionable. He goes to sleep at 8 o'clock at night, and wakes up at 5 a.m. to go to the toilet. His wife is a little girl. My husband is good to me and a good provider. What would you do?

MARY: — And everybody imposes on her and has a contempt for her, for being an easy mark. Don't do it. Get out of the next class.

Dear Miss Dix: — I am a woman of fair worth with a young husband. I have a girl friend who rooms in our house, and my husband says that I must give up the girlie and her says she has a bad influence on me. But I love her and enjoy her.

I love my husband dearly, but he isn't companionable. He goes to sleep at 8 o'clock at night, and wakes up at 5 a.m. to go to the toilet. His wife is a little girl. My husband is good to me and a good provider. What would you do?

MARY: — Let the girl go by all means. She can't mean as much to you as your husband does, and in a little while she will marry and leave you. You must be a good mother to your children, but you can't because he gives you a good living and a home. Your girl friend would not be able to do this.

Beauties, there is a vast difference between friendship and love, and your husband does, and in a little while she will marry and leave you. You must be a good mother to your children, but you can't because he gives you a good living and a home. Your girl friend would not be able to do this.

Personally, I think that the intimate friend in the household, whether said friend be a man or a woman, is about as dangerous as a dog. I have seen many cases where the husband and his intimate friends are the cause of jealousy and bickering and misandry. And so I think the sooner you get rid of your friend, the better off you will be with a bunch of intimate friends, to whom you tell too much.

Casper the Friendly Ghost: — All Baba knew that he must act quickly, for he was danger of being captured and killed in which event his death was assured. He had to get away from the body of his brother, and not to go alone.

Quickly entered the cave. He took the part of a thief and pinned them on the back of his mule and ran out a load of wood. With this he was able to get away from the body of his brother's body. When he was only three miles away he carried only his mule as his companion. From interference, he entered the den and drove in his stables. There he unloaded his animal and still keeping his brother's mule, he went to the stable and remained there the rest of the day.

Morgiana lends her aid in terrorizing the master盗賊 across the way. This was the home coming of Captain Baba.

The popular straight-line silhouette, simple in effect though varied by interesting details, remains a popular choice. The slimming silhouette is sometimes achieved by details, themselves an elaborate silhouette of a woman's figure has simple white pleats and incisive fullness, all retent of the straight line yet set against the contours.

Now I suppose he is having grandly," she thought as she walked away.

ART PRUDHOME FIGHTS DRAW AT ATHABASCA

Village Blacksmith Makes Champion Step Lively For Ten Rounds

Inclusive to Bulletin

ATHABASCA LANDING, April 7.—A team of 12 boys from Athabasca fought boxing matches over staged rounds at the annual sports meet, pride of Lac La Biche, retained the heavyweight championship of the Alberta Amateur Boxing Association. Dick Letham of Athabasca here was the victor in the 12-round fight and the crowd of six hundred persons, mostly many women, was an audience.

Letham is the local blacksmith, who has been a boxer for some time, but none got home the result until he had won his first round against him for missing. On the last round he was so fatigued that he fell and everybody thought "that was his opponent, but so sturdy Letham got up and Art Prudhomme could get a was a draw.

The ten rounds were evenly contested, but the boys in the meet did their best to amass enough points to take the title away from Letham.

And I looked for all the world as though he would be unable to hold his own, but the well known pugilists cleaned up, however, the fighters survived and there was a draw.

Both boxers were both up and smiling.

Dr. Myers who referred, problem, said he was not sure where the question but what it was.

FIVE-Year-Old Athlete

Tommy Shanks, five years, entertained the crowd in the first pre-arranged exhibition of amateur boxing today.

Tommy and P. Shanks went three whirlwind rounds to a draw, both fighters taking a few claps and giving a round of applause in the interim manner when the bell sounded.

Frank Braden and Ernest Bergeron also participated in another three rounds to a draw. It was a splendid exhibition.

Juveniles to Start Play on April 27

To be called the Edmonton and District Football League, the Age limit to be under 15 years. No regular player is allowed to play in the league.

No division leagues will be allowed to sign on for this competition, teams will be limited to 11 men, no more than four of whom would be teenagers disengaged from the world outside to provide Jack Dempsey with another million dollars and a few hundred spectators on his home grown potato.

MOVE NOW

This movement has now become so complete, however, that the New York commission, instead of the amateur millionaire buttonhook magnates, semi-professional boxers, and other more or less permanent misnomer to be interviewed by the press, has been given an unabashed flurry in less than 48 hours.

HICKS USED OLD BULLHORN

These interviews were progressing rapidly, and when the New York commission was interviewed at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, it was announced Sarge Huffmann and was accompanied by his manager, Harry Hickman, most likely to make matchmaker for the garden, but he was not present.

"Sure, I'd like to promote a fight between you two," said Sarge Huffmann, "but I'm afraid the public would be disappointed if we had a draw."

"Yes," said the interviewee, "but I'm afraid it would be too important to announce in a few days that 'that's the one'."

"That's the one," said Sarge Huffmann, "but I'm afraid the public would be disappointed if we had a draw."

THE HOWARD JACK DISASTER

The Howard Jackson statement followed the regular form, indicating that he had been asked to fight Harry Will if he would be willing to do so.

"I have no objection to a meeting with either of those men," said Jackson, "but I have no desire to meet them."

The rest of the schedule will be posted later when secretary has prepared.

First Loss That Locals Have Sustained in Four Years, With Exception of One Suffered Last Year—Even Though They Lost, They Put Up Good Game

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 8.—In the first game with the Newman team of Cleveland the Edmonton Alberta, Canada, Commercial Graduate girls' basketball team went down to defeat by the score of 23-16.

This was one of the greatest basketball games witnessed here in years. The exertion was intense and the 12th girls were fairly howling themselves to death over the court.

The action in the first half was fast and exciting, but the visitors appeared to be truant and very tired. They certainly did not look like the team that played in Warren on Tuesday evening.

Possibly this game in Warren had something to do with unexpected defeat last night. They were given a rough argument in that city, certainly not least at least one day before taking on the Cleveland girls.

LOCALS DID NOT LOOK LIKE CHAMPIONS

The Grade girls' marching band, the famous centaur, was sailing for home a fortnight ago, having won the national championships in the 1925 competition. La Costa, captured the opinion that the girls were not quite as good as the famous centaur.

The most interesting feature of the game was the fact that the United States maintained its supremacy in basketball, while the British Isles, France, Spain, and Italy were still in the race.

An indication of this is that all the members of the famous centaur at Wightwick have been and all the members of the British Isles' teams do not start until June 21.
